

The Times online

Experience award-winning journalism, compelling and immersive visual storytelling and interactive features.

GROUP SUBSCRIPTIONS

Get The New York Times for your students

Full access to award-winning journalism and rich resources drives learning and broadens understanding of the world.

The Times has approximately 1,450 journalists on staff reporting from more than 150 countries each year. More than 150 million people read The Times every month. And they spend more time (around 20 minutes per month) with our stories than with any other news site.

We curate content across a wide range of topics to ensure our readers stay informed by surfacing the most important stories. Our journalists provide the context and analysis that readers need to better understand what's happening around them.

Tens of millions of people subscribe to the Times's 50+ newsletters to ensure the topics they care about are delivered to their inbox. From the Morning Briefing, available for Asia, Europe and Australia, which gets readers caught up on the most important stories of the day to Science Times and DealBook, from Gender Letter to Sports, there is a Times newsletter for every curious reader.

Times storytelling reaches well beyond the written word.

Interactive Multimedia
From our award-winning photography to our immersive graphics and interactives, The Times sets the standard for multimedia storytelling excellence.

Podcasts
Through highly popular podcasts, listeners press play every day to join our journalists and subject-matter experts on a range of topics. Leading audio show "The Daily" has five million unique monthly listeners and airs on more than 30 radio stations across the U.S.

Video
On the screen, Times Video reveals a dynamic view of the world, helping bring stories to life in vivid relief, from reporting on global conflicts to the latest revelations in style, sports and science.

Immersive Storytelling
Audiences can experience Times stories without limits and join our journalists at the center of it all in 360 with immersive virtual reality and augmented reality features.

"The New York Times is the most dynamic and engaging textbook I can offer my students. It raises questions my students hadn't ever thought to ask."

Kevin E.
Principal Lecturer

Academic Site Licence
The New York Times enhances the educational experience of students and faculty alike. Full access to the day's global breaking news and award-winning multimedia adds relevance to a multitude of courses, stimulates classroom discussion and fosters critical thinking. No other publication is able to transport students beyond the classroom and more actively connect them to the evolving world.

An Academic Site License gives your students and faculty the ability to access NYTimes.com on any device, on or off campus. And our special discounted rates make this valuable resource a must-have for schools and universities.

Key Benefits
Access Anywhere
Browse, search and share content anytime, anywhere – both on and off campus.
In-depth Archives
Access to a vast, yet easily searchable archive dating back to 1851.*
Course-relevant Content
Award-winning journalism and commentary including video, photos, infographics, podcasts and more. Set customizable alerts and sign up for a host of email newsletters.

Faculty Resources
Enjoy access to various teaching strategies, articles, discussion questions, case studies and more. Plus, the entire campus community can benefit from New York Times-sponsored events and workshops.

*Full access to articles from the archive of The New York Times from 1851 to the present day, with select access to New York Times articles published from 1923 through 1980.

RESOURCES FOR K-12

Enrich your teaching with The Learning Network

Empower your students and teaching staff with educator-designed teaching and learning resources.

RESOURCES FOR UNIVERSITIES

Explore Times content tailored for your class

Keep learning current with curated summaries, instructional strategies and exclusive content.

The Learning Network offers fresh classroom resources — from lesson plans and writing prompts to news quizzes, student contests and more — all based on the articles, essays, images, videos and graphics published on NYTimes.com.

Activities for Students

A group subscription offers access to all activities in The Learning Network as well as all the content from The Times to which they link. Activities include:

Articles & Questions

Article of the Day and Teenagers in The Times

Writing Prompts

Student Opinion Q's and Picture Prompts

Quizzes & Crosswords

Weekly News Quiz, Word of the Day & Student Crosswords

Multimedia

What's Going On in This Picture? and Film Club

Contests

Student Contests and Our Contest Calendar

Lesson Plans

We offer teachers five lessons a month, but you can also subscribe via a schoolwide plan to gain unlimited access to NYTimes.com, plus our full library of lesson resources.

By visiting our Lessons page and clicking on the appropriate section, you can find materials covering a wide range of topics, including:

- Reading & Literature
- Journalism
- E.L.L.
- Literacy Skills
- Math
- U.S. History
- Arts
- Global Issues
- Civics
- Social Studies Skills
- Science
- Current Events
- Writing

“Assigning The New York Times in classes makes the abstract concrete and a complicated world more understandable. Including The Times on a syllabus ensures relevance — with the work of the newsroom always animating the life of the classroom.”

Robert Schmuhl
Chair in American Studies and Journalism at the University of Notre Dame

The New York Times is known all over the world for unparalleled news coverage, analysis and high-caliber reporting. Each day hundreds of colleges and universities around the globe bring our content into the academic setting.

From curated synopses that connect the news to specific areas of study, to exclusive content aggregated by keyword, The New York Times brings you resources the way you need them.

Educators can explore Times content by area of study, including:

Leadership

Connects leadership concepts to real-world examples and expands students' understanding of how leadership works in the 21st century.

International Relations

Detailed coverage of world events teaches students about issues in contemporary politics.

Business

Enriches learning through the use of case studies and current events to bridge theory to praxis.

Instructional Strategies

Faculty-driven strategies to promote student achievement across disciplines.

Co-Curricular Activities

Promote learning outside the classroom with help from The Times.

For any queries, Contact:

Bharat Book Bureau

Real Tech Park, Sector - 30A, Vashi, Navi Mumbai, India - 400703.

Website: www.bharatbook.com

Email: raju@bharatbook.com

Mobile: +91 92237 67111