WHO WE ARE

SinoInsider provides analysis and forecasts of China's political, geopolitical, and economic risks. Our assessments are based on years of research and a deep understanding of Chinese Communist Party elite politics, operations, and political culture. Our work helps clients succeed by improving their comprehension of the Xi Jinping leadership and the CCP's actions and policies, as well as their implications for China and the world.

WHY SUBSCRIBE TO SINOINSIDER?

Businesses, investors, academics, and governments have been looking to “get China right” to aid their decision-making with regard to the world's second-largest economy and the growing geopolitical threat it poses. Understanding elite politics in the Chinese Communist Party is an essential part of getting China right because politics is paramount in a Leninist state that is ruled by the Party. All issues in China are downstream from CCP elite politics, and the core problem of CCP elite politics is factional struggle.

SinoInsider specializes in analyzing CCP elite politics, operations, and political culture. Founded in 2017, we have an unparalleled track record in forecasting personnel reshuffles in China and accurately analyzing factional struggle developments since the 19th Party Congress.

Our understanding of how the CCP operates and factional dynamics in the Party elite led us to correctly anticipate various consequential developments. These include the inevitability of the Sino-U.S. trade war and the deterioration of the bilateral relationship; the Chinese economy's struggles to recover after the end of “zero-COVID”; and the continuation and expansion of Xi Jinping's anti-corruption campaign after the 20th Party Congress, particularly in the financial sector. Our assessments were made against the grain of popular observations at the time, including by prominent Chinese and Western financial institutions, think-tanks, and pundits.

Getting China right will become more crucial with time as the Chinese economy continues to slow, businesses and investors lose confidence in China, and countries grow wary of Xi and the CCP amid concerns over Taiwan and the South China Sea. Be in the know and stay ahead of the competition with SinoInsider.
